INDUCULATION

FOR ALL LEGUME CROPS

For all legume crops, including alfalfa, clover, soybeans, etc., Induculation is the most effective method of increasing the yield and quality of the crop. It is a powerful stimulant that acts on the roots of the plant, causing them to grow more rapidly and to absorb more nutrients from the soil. Induculation is also a powerful fungicide, protecting the plant from root rot and other diseases. It is a powerful insecticide, killing the insects that damage the plant. Induculation is a powerful herbicide, killing the weeds that compete with the plant. Induculation is a powerful fertilizer, supplying the plant with all the nutrients it needs to grow. Induculation is a powerful growth regulator, causing the plant to grow more rapidly and to produce more seed. Induculation is a powerful yield enhancer, increasing the yield of the crop by 25% or more. Induculation is a powerful quality enhancer, improving the quality of the crop by making it more nutritious and more palatable. Induculation is a powerful disease and insecticide, protecting the plant from all the most common diseases and insects that damage legume crops.
